

The Title V Process

Iowa Department of Education

2008-09

What is Title V?

Title V is an extremely flexible funding stream with few reporting requirements that school districts can use to support local reform efforts consistent with statewide efforts.

2008-09 Update on Title V

- The U. S. Department of Education budget for 2008-09 does not include an allocation for Title V, Part A (Innovative Education Programs). Title V-A, however, has not been eliminated. This development has several implications for Iowa districts:
 - Iowa districts will not receive a Title V-A allocation in 2008-09.
 - Districts may still transfer or, if eligible, REAP-flex money from other eligible programs into Title V-A and use those amounts according to the Title V-A regulations and guidelines.
 - Monies transferred or REAP-flexed into Title V are subject to the nonpublic school requirements of Title V.

2008-09 Update on Title V

- Only those districts that choose to transfer or REAP-flex money into Title V-A will be required to complete a Title V-A application for 2008-09. The deadline for this application is October 17, 2008.
- All districts will be required to complete a Final Report (and, if applicable, an Acquisition List) related to their 2007-08 allocation. This final report will be due in February 13, 2009.

What are the 2008-09 district requirements for Title V?

If your district does not transfer or REAP-flex money into Title V:

Are there any special responsibilities for Title V?

Yes, for districts that have accredited non-public schools located within their boundaries. In this case the public school is the "fiscal agent". Title V funds are never released to accredited non-public schools. The public school district is responsible for collecting and reporting information for all non-public schools.
